PRIDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 1879. Apveces from various parts of the Islands still report coptions showers," thereby showing the rainfall to be general throughout the group. The light southerly winds that have prevailed make the shipping movements, both coasting and foreign, quite sluggish.

The monotony however has at last been broken, and we can report the arrival of the Ella and Edward James from on Francisco, with dates to the 29th ult. The market quotations show no material change in Island produce since last reported. Both wessels bring full assorted cargoes, and are to be followed by the Discovery, Kalakana, W H Meyer and stmr City of New York

We have ploy to record the arrival on Tuesday last, the 18th fast, of the s.s. Zealandia, from the Colonies, and which sailed the same evening for Sau Francisco, taking a number of passengers, and freight valued at $844,280. Schr American Girl also sailed the same day for San Francisco, with a cargo of domestic produce.

By the Ells we were favored with a copy of the Sn Francisco Journal of Commerce Annual Review of Jan 234. for which we tender our thanks to the Publishers. It is a very full and elaborate issue, and contains much valuable information that we would like to make use of here. but with Annual Tables of our Custom House Statistics for the past year, which we are enabled to furnish this issue, space will not allow us to expatiate thereon. It is interesting, however, in connection with our own tables, to refute the erroncous charges made against the nuntualbenefit workings of the Treaty. In the San Francisco tables we find that these islands take first rank in their Exports of Bread, Clothing, Dry Goods, and Pickled Sal mon; second in Exports of Refined Sugar-notwithstanding the charge made against us that we use " German re fined sugar," and that " the San Francisco Refiner doe not create or demand a market here for the refined sugars he produces from the island growth." We are second also is humber and in Leather; fourth in the list of foreign gerivals and also in departures, and fifth in amount of Cannod Salmon. We may refer to these tables again excellent showing, and one that will well repay investigation, for notwithstanding the heavy importations that have been going on to meet the expanding industries, we have exceeded them in the value of Exports by over half a million of dollars; thus entitling us to rank with the few countries whose Debit and Credit Accounts with the world about on the right side of our books. The figures here given as to the proportion of supplies we receive from the United States show a trifle over, two-thirds of the total of all Imports, while the other third thirds of the total of all Imports, while the other third has to be divided up with all the world, of which Eng-land comes in for a share of $549.115, and Germany for Surely this makes it plain on its face, that the United States is receiving a benefit to the full extent of our growing prosperity from the beneficial workings of the Trusty.

Through the courtesy of His Excellency the Minister of Finance, we are enabled to present to our readers to-day the Tables of annual statistics as prepared by Col. W. F. Allen, the Collector General of Customs. As was anticipated, these records of the commerce of the country for the econd year since the Treaty of Reciprocity went into effect, are interesting and highly satisfactory. as showing the progress made in the development of our resources, and as an earnest of what great results are yet to be accomplished.

ports for the year 1878 over those of the previous year, is represented by the handsome sum of $872,268.86. This is produced by the increase in the principal articles of domestic exports, as follows: An increase in Sugar of 12,855,493 that in Rice and Paddy of 289,301 lbs; in Wool, of 137,054 lbs; in Goat Skins, of 12,074 pcs; in Fungus, of 10,744 lbs; in Hides, of 3,145 lbs; in Pula, of 62,154 lbs. In some of the minor articles of production there has been a decrease, as in the article of peanuts, the cultivation of which by the Chinese has been mostly abandoned for that of Rice, and its exportation has decreased 62,304 lbs. in a single year; Tallow has fallen off 129,888 lbs; Coffee, 5,072 lbs; and Bananas 2,564 bunghes. With the increasing facilities afforded by steamers for getting this fruit to a port our Sugar out of 384 million pounds exported which did not go to U. S ports on the Pacific.

In 1877, the value of goods imported free of duty from the United States under the Treaty, abroad were fifty-one more in 1878 than in 1877, with an increase of tonnage amounting 42,733 tons. The increase in passengers (other than Oahn Jail with a bottle of brandy, and sentenced those in transit) was 1994.

1878, amounted to $3,548,471.84, and of Imports, to $3,046,369.70, showing an excess of

Exports over Imports of $502,102.14. We believe it is an established doctrine with most political economists, that when a nation can show from reliable statistics that it sends more in value of its own productions abroad than it receives in exchange therefor, such nation is prospering, the balance of trade being in its lavor. We are aware that there is a modern school of philosophers who argue just the contrary of this proposition, but we confess ourselves unable to fairly comprehend their reasoning. The proposition appears plain to our comprehension that if an individual carns (or produces and sells) more in value than he spends,

Sources, instead of being confined to one alone,

To the Editor of the Pacific Commercial Advertiser MR. EDITOR: I learn that the good people of Fort street Church propose to have a temperance meeting to-morrow evening, instead of the usual preaching. The cause is certainly a noble one, and far be it from me to say one word against any effort that may be made to lessen the evils of intemperance. But I am inclined to the belief that this movement will fail to do much real good work where work is neededi. e., among the intemperate. No doubt a great many people will be induced to sign the pledge, ninetenths of whom don't know from personal experience the difference in taste between a whisky toddy and a champagne cocktail; but the habitual drinkers, those whom a pledge will really benefit, are not likely to be reached by a movement of this kind emanating from and carried on in a church. Had our good church people lent a helping hand to the Good Templars when that organization was struggling for existence, very happy results I believe would have followed. There was ample room for Christian effort there ; but among themselves? "Thoy that are whole need no physician." I. O. G. T.

As the position occupied by the sycophant is more important, and his power by such to wield a healthy influence, is greater, so will his performance be low, bearing always an inverse ratio, so to speak, to his capabilities for possible good. Now there are few positions in which a man can be placed wherein his capabilities for serving the public interest are greater than in that of the Editorial Chair; and it is expected of such as would occupy it, that the utterance therefrom should be truthful and fearless, and consistent with the dignity properly attaching to such office. It is also the case that there are few positions in which one can more easily expose himself to universal contempt than here, especially when the utterances of the Press are made slavishly subservient to individual interest. Nothing is more sickening than the speciacle presented by a public journal whose tone is ever being modified to suit the ear of an individual, a sect, or an administration; and forever begging for notice which it should be able to command; whose columns, in the stead of open and manly criticism upon subjects of public Interest, are only replete with obsequious paragraphs, important perhaps to an individual or two. The fact that a person has been "born with a silver spoon in his mouth," or that one has subsequently been acquired, is sufficient, when stated, nor are the public interested or edified in the smallest degree by editorial comments upon the skill manifested in its manufacture, the remarkable ability of the Agent who imported it; and much less in the degree of estimation in which the spoon-holder is held by the Editor.

It is exceedingly mortifying to have our efforts go unrewarded, and for that reason no public journalist should devote his time in this way-at least not unless he be content with the style of reward offered to the man in the story, who was allowed to smell the jug after his host had emptied the wine. As the public of Honolulu have lately been served to satiety with the kind of literature alluded to. perhaps the knowledge of the fact may induce the Editor who has dealt most largely therein, to adopt a style of " menn " more varied, and better adapted to the mental stomachs of his readers-at least this is the hope of one who has ventured to echo an opinion very generally entertained. > Fell Dead. - Yesterday morning an elderly native while taking a cup of coffee in a Chinese restaurant on Nuuanu street, was seen to drop his head on the table, and on examination was quite dead. He had been in the Queen's Hospital for a trouble in the chest. Mules .- These animals are rapidly coming into demand for plantation work, as their superiority over bullocks is demonstrated. Thirty-eight were received from California by the Ella. They cost about $100 each landed here. Fifty mules were received by the Edward James. We note that Mr. E. P. Adams will offer them for sale by Auction at noon to-day. Mr. Kohler, the exhibitor of the Phonograph, etc. had a very successfull evening's performance on Thursday last. To-night he takes a benefit at the Hawaiian Theatre, being assisted, as volunteers, by Messrs. H. H. Williams, A. Wilson Snow, Jas. Luproil, the Hawaiian Minstrels, and Mr. Berger on the Piano. Thus an excellent and attractive bill is offered. TRAMPS AGAIN .- The idea is such a novel one that we have the real genus tramp on these Islands, that people generally pay but little attention to the subject. But it is pretty evident that there are some queer characters here, who have recently drifted to our shores, and it is about time they were looked after. Last Wednesday evening, a native boy who drives a grocer's wagon, was returning to town from Waikiki about 7 o'clock, when about midway of the plains on the King street road, he was stopped by three foreigners, who demanded money. The boy was nearly frightened out of his wits, and readily surrendered all he had, which amounted to only fifty cents, when he was allowed to proceed. He describes the men as being dressed in long coats reaching to their heels, and with some sort of masks on their faces. Another native who was riding in the tail of the wagon, corroborates this story. We are also informed that for several successive evenings this week, the street lamp at the corner of Emma Square has been mysteriously extinguished somewhere about nine o'clock, and that a suspicious looking and acting person, evidentiy a foreigner, has been seen prowling about the neighboring private premises. We beg to recommend a few mounted police to patrol the environs and the less frequented parts of the city.

for the Australian International Exhibition, to open in August next. It was originally intended to erect the buildings in Prince Alfred Park, but we note by recent advices that the plan has been altered and that the "Inner Domain" has been selected, where work has already been commenced. The main building it is estimated will cost £500,000-two and a half millions of dollars! Entries generally of exhibitors are to close July I, but we are informed that for countries in the Pacific two or three months longer will be allowed. We trust that some of our agriculturists will have sufficient public spirit to ensure of our Island staples being properly represented at this first International Exhibition in the Pacific. We certainly could make a creditable showing of Sugar,

From Lahaina we hear there was quite a freshet, and some ten acres of cane were damaged; but the loss was estimated to have been more than made up by the large quantities of silt brought down from the nountain, greatly enriching the fields. In some instances this deposit amounted to several inches in depth. During the rains of last month, as previously reported, 26,04 inches was the record at Haiku. Near this point is where the iron pipe of the ditch for izrigation crosses the "big gulch." The precaution had been taken when laying this pipe to place it six feet below the surface at the bottom of the gulch, and to encase it in solid mason-work, in Sailed for Kingsmill Group on the 11th, and on the 14th a heavy gale, with rain, set in from the during which time no observations could be taken. On this day the burricane was appalling, sea after sea sweeping the decks of every movable thing. carrying away boats, gear, house, &c. As darkness set in there was no appearance of land, and the out-look was anything but cheerful, yet they were in hopes of weathering the storm. About 2 a. m. of the 19th, the roar of the surf was heard. and preparations were instantly made to wear the vessel, but before this could be done a huge sea struck her, and cast the schooner right upon a reef. As it was dark, and nothing could be seen ahead. he masts were cut away, to prevent her from breaking up, and this somewhat eased the roll o
